

A 20 % position as Adjunct Associate Professor in Medieval History is available at the Department of Archaeology, Conservation and History, University of Oslo. The position is for a period of three years.

The holder of the position is expected to contribute to research projects within Medieval History at the Department. The position is meant to complement the current competence and network within the Department's medieval section, which seeks to strengthen its ties to the German historical community.

Requirements

- PhD or equivalent academic qualifications with a specialization in Medieval History.
- Personal suitability and motivation for the position.

The following qualifications will count in the assessment of the applicants:

- Academic qualifications and academic production in Medieval History, with emphasis on works published within the last 5 years. Originality and innovative thinking are preferred to quantity.
- A strong position and an extensive network within the German medievalist community.
- International peer-reviewed publications.
- Extended experience with research projects both at national and EU level.
- Potential to contribute to the long-term development of the academic and research environment at the Department.
- Collaborative skills and willingness to initiate joint projects.
- Experience with and ability to build international networks.

In the assessment of the qualified candidates all criteria listed above will be explicitly addressed and assessed. Academic quality, development potential and scope will be prioritized in this order.

We offer

- Salary level 57-64 (468 100 - 532 700 NOK per year, depending on qualifications)
- A professionally stimulating working environment
- Pension agreement with Norwegian Public Service Pension Fund
- Attractive welfare benefits

Submissions

Applicants must submit the following attachments with the electronic application form, preferably in pdf format:

- Application letter describing qualifications
- Curriculum Vitae
- List of published and unpublished works
- Description of one or more research projects which may be relevant for the Department

Applicants are asked to describe and exemplify the entire range of qualifications and criteria mentioned in the announcement of the post.

Selection procedure

As first step a Selection Panel will invite a limited set of candidates to submit a portfolio of educational certificates and academic works (up to 10 publications, which should not exceed 500 pages in total) for further assessment. Applicants who are invited to submit academic works are asked to select three works, published within the last five years, to be considered as more relevant for the position. In larger volumes (monographs), applicants may specify the relevant pages. Applicants are also asked to document other qualifications (public outreach, teaching and supervision, leadership and administration). A Selection Board will then assess the selected works and submit its report containing a list of the shortlisted applicants.

Finally, an interview will be part of the assessment process.

Within his/her normal duties, and in accordance with his/her academic competence, the person appointed may also be asked to work outside his/her department. The appointment is subject to changes to the subject area and tasks that may be determined by the employer.

See also Rules for appointments to Associate Professorships.

The University of Oslo has an agreement for all employees, aiming to secure rights to research results a.o.

The University of Oslo aims to achieve a balanced gender composition in the workforce and to recruit people with ethnic minority backgrounds.

Following the Freedom of Information Act (Offentlighetsloven) § 25, Chapter 2, information about the applicant may be used in the public list of applicants even if the applicant opts out from the entry in the public application list.