Thursday May 31

10:00-10:30 Coffee

10:30-10:40 Welcome (Kellie Gonçalves, MultiLing, University of Oslo)

10:40-10:50 Welcome (Elizabeth Lanza and Ellen Rees, University of Oslo)

10:50-11:10 The power of discomfort: Identifying and living your ambitions (Ellen Rees, University of Oslo)

11:10-11:30 The joys of admin. Power and collaboration at different academic levels (Virginia Richter, University of Bern, Switzerland)

11:30-11:50 Women and leadership – what do we know from research? (Surin Kaur, University of Malaya, Malaysia)

11:50-13:15 LUNCH BREAK

13:15-13:35 Powerful women, a threat to men - and women? (Helen Kelly-Holmes, University of Limerick, Ireland)

13:35-13:55 What are the tasks of a leader? (Fanny Duckert, University of Oslo)

13:55-14:15 The pink dilemma - Reflections on being an academic, a woman, and a newbie leader (Åse Gornitzka, University of Oslo)

14:15-15:00 PANEL: If you really want to empower women, what do you have to do? (Additional panel discussants: Eirik Welo, University of Oslo and Piotr Garbacz, University of Oslo)

15:00-15:30 Coffee and cake

Friday June 1

09:45-10:15 Coffee

10:15-10:20 Summing up (Kellie Gonçalves, MultiLing, University of Oslo)

10:20-10:40 Lean in or ladies’ lonely leadership? – That’s the question! (Beatrix Busse, University of Heidelberg, Germany)

10:40-11:00 Balancing on the tightrope: Challenges and opportunities in a first leadership role (Máiréad Moriarty, University of Limerick, Ireland)

11:00-11:20 What are the challenges of juggling an international research center? (Elizabeth Lanza, MultiLing, University of Oslo)

11:20-11:40 How to initiate a sub-field of research and become the founder of an academic journal? (Elana Shohamy, Tel Aviv University, Israel)

11:40-12:20 PANEL: The challenges of balancing leadership positions with partners and families (Additional panel discussants: Bjørn Ramberg, University of Oslo and Robert Blackwood, University of Liverpool, UK).

12:20-12:30 Closing comments (Kellie Gonçalves, MultiLing, University of Oslo)