

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

A Post-Doctoral Research Fellowship is available at the Department of Archaeology, Conservation and History, University of Oslo.

The postdoctoral research project must deal with the Nordic Bronze Age and/or Nordic Late Neolithic. The project description must be theoretically and methodologically sophisticated, and be interdisciplinary in scope and approach (towards e.g. archaeometry, environmental archaeology or anthropology).

The successful applicant is expected to participate in the Department's ongoing research networks, and contribute to the development of the Department's research milieu. Postdoctoral fellowships are primarily aimed at qualifying the holders for senior academic positions.

The position has a duration of 3.5 years. 25% of the time attached to the position will be assigned teaching, supervision and management duties. The holder of the position will be expected to contribute to courses in Neolithic and Bronze Age archaeology, theory and method, archaeometry and/or environmental archaeology.

Requirements

- PhD with a specialization in archaeology or the equivalent.
- The candidate's research project must be within Nordic Bronze Age and/or Nordic Late Neolithic archaeology. The application must demonstrate a sophisticated level of theoretical and methodological reflection.
- Personal suitability and motivation for the position.

The doctoral dissertation must have been submitted for evaluation before the application deadline.

In the evaluation of the applications, emphasis will be placed on:

- the project's scientific merit, research-related relevance and innovation
- the applicant's estimated academic and personal ability to carry out the project within the allotted time frame
- documented pedagogical qualifications through education and experience
- good co-operative skills, and the ability to successfully join in academic collaboration within and across disciplines.
- Proficiency in English is required for non-native English speakers. Command of a Scandinavian language is an advantage.

We offer

- Salary level 57-X (x-x NOK per year, depending on qualifications)
- A professionally stimulating working environment
- Attractive welfare benefits

Submissions

Applicants must submit the following attachments with the electronic application form, preferably in pdf format:

- Application letter
- Curriculum Vitae with grades listed. Foreign applicants should enclose an explanation of grading system.
- List of published and unpublished works
- Project description (approximately 3-5 pages). The project description must present a feasible progress plan. It is expected that the applicant will be able to complete the project during the period of appointment

Please note that all documents must be in English or a Scandinavian language.

The short-listed candidates will be invited to an interview at the University of Oslo or we will arrange for an interview on Skype.
