

DOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP IN POST-SOVIET/UKRAINIAN STUDIES

Job description

A Doctoral Research Fellowship (SKO 1017) in post-Soviet area studies/Ukrainian studies is available at the Department of literature, area studies and European languages (ILOS), University of Oslo.

The Doctoral Research Fellow will be affiliated with the research project “National values and political reforms in post-Maidan Ukraine” (VALREF), funded by the Research Council of Norway. The project runs for four years, from 1 March 2021 to 28 February 2025. The project outline can be downloaded from xxx.

The applicant should design an individual project within the framework of the overall project. Special emphasis should be put on ethnic/civic nation-building, and societal responses to political, institutional and security sector developments and reforms in Ukraine after 2013. The successful candidate should have experience in survey composition/ analysis and excellent language skills in Russian and/or Ukrainian.

He or she is supposed to contribute to the project’s over-arching research questions, concerning popular national and regional perceptions in Ukraine of the Euromaidan events as a fundamental change for the trajectory of Ukraine’s national independence; on what it means to be “Ukrainian” after Euromaidan 2013/2014; on reforms in various sectors, such as security, economy and politics.

The research method can be qualitative or quantitative or a combination of these. The applicant is expected to carry out fieldwork in Ukraine.

As affiliated with the VALREF project, the Doctoral Research Fellow is expected to take active part in all project-related activities, such as seminars and workshops.

The person appointed will be affiliated with the Faculty's organized research training. The academic work is to result in a doctoral thesis that will be defended at the Faculty with a view to obtaining the degree of PhD. The successful candidate is expected to join the existing research milieu or network and contribute to its development. Read more about the doctoral degree.

The appointment is for a duration of 3 years. All PhD Candidates who submit their doctoral dissertation for assessment with a written recommendation from their supervisor within 3 years or 3 ½ years after the start of their PhD position, will be offered, respectively, a 12 or 6 month Completion Grant.

Qualification requirements

- A Master's degree or equivalent in post-Soviet Area Studies or in Social Sciences (e.g. Political Science or Sociology) related to contemporary post-Soviet politics and society. The Master's degree must have been obtained and the final evaluation must be available by the application deadline.

- Fluent oral and written communication skills in English and excellent language skills in Russian and /or Ukrainian.
- Personal suitability and motivation for the position.

To be eligible for admission to the doctoral programs at the University of Oslo, applicants must, as a minimum, have completed a five-year graduation course (Master's degree or equivalent), including a Master's thesis of at least 30 ECTS. In special cases, the Faculty may grant admission on the basis of a one-year Master course following an assessment of the study program's scope and quality.

In assessing the applications, special emphasis will be placed on:

- The project's scientific merit, research-related relevance and innovation
- The applicant's estimated academic and personal ability to complete the project within the time frame
- The applicant's ability to complete research training
- Good collaboration skills and an ability to join interdisciplinary academic communities

Applicants who have recently graduated with excellent results may be given preference.
